

CGI Advertising | Coordinated Graphics, Inc.

Where do ideas come from?

Collaboration.

Development of an advertising campaign, brochure, package design or website starts with analysis, discussion, research and brainstorming. We focus on your market and your objectives and develop concepts that quickly communicate a relevant message to your customer — whether it's a consumer, company or business-to-business contact.

Copy. Design. Execution.

At CGI, we create advertising for you that reflects the essence of your company, meets your objectives and communicates your beliefs. We separate your company from your competition through well-written copy, beautiful design and attention to detail. We Capture Attention in an increasingly cluttered media environment.

What really drives consumers to buy or not to buy is the content of your advertising, not its form.

— David Ogilvy,

Founder, Ogilvy & Mather

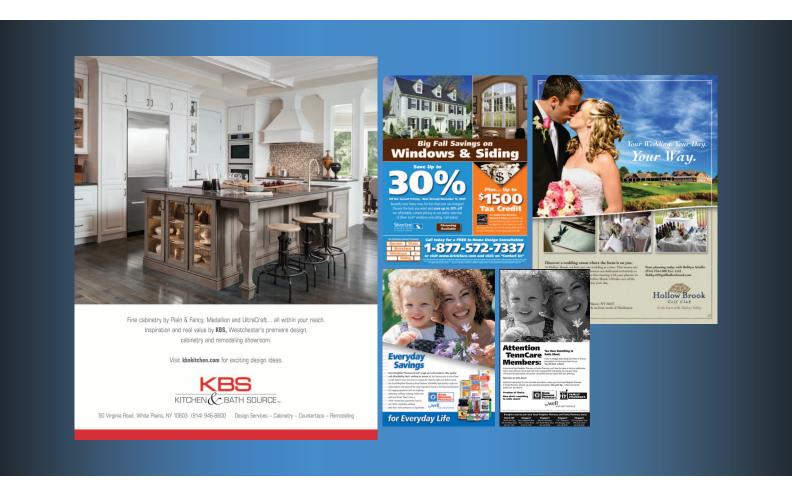

Advertising Campaigns

When it comes to thinking big, you don't need a big advertising agency. You need a smart one. An ad agency with expertise in your industry. An agency dedicated to your success... one that will respond to your everyday needs. Because smaller is more agile, allowing for a swift response to ever-changing market conditions and the close attention you need to maintain your competitive edge. We integrate print and broadcast advertising with digital media to create multi-platform solutions for our clients. The combination of on-target messaging and strong visuals in the right media Generates Interest for your product or service.

Websites and Digital Marketing

It's still the Wild West on the World Wide Web. CGI can help you navigate the complexities of website design, keywords, AdWords, SEO, SEM, backlinks, analytics, Pay-per-Click advertising, digital advertising, geofencing, geotargeting, email marketing, click-thru rates, review management, blogging, likes, follows, shares, pins, posts, social media content development...

Social Media Marketing and Content Development

Facebook page design and daily posts, Twitter feeds, Pinterest boards, Instagram,... and whatever the latest and greatest might be this week.

Graphic Design

From start to finish, CGI develops the concepts, writes the copy and creates the visuals for a wide range of marketing objectives and communications activities.

Corporate Branding: Logo design, business cards, letterhead, memo pads and promotional products

Brochures, Pocket Folders, Direct Mail and Other Collateral Materials

Graphic Design

There's more to marketing than advertising, brochures, emails and websites. Our clients depend on us to create the designs for their trade show marketing and their product packaging. We output and construct their displays, and we work closely with their packaging printers.

Package Design: Polybags, cartons, wrappers

Large Format Materials: Trade show displays, banners, posters and other signage

Industries We Serve

Of course, your business might not fit squarely into one of these categories, but we are adept at putting square pegs into round holes. With almost 40 years of experience, we can apply our creativity and knowledge to your company, regardless of your industry.
